ABOUT US

Sandrine Dahan, biochemist with a dual marketing skill (ESSEC Business School), spent 10 years with major cosmetic and dermocosmetic brands (Guerlain, T-Leclerc, Teoxane), finally launching her own brand, Skinhaptics, in 2011.

In each of her three pregnancies, she discovered new methods of connecting with her babies and reconnecting with her own body, from thalassotherapy to pre- and post-natal massages.

Skinhaptics is the synthesis of its two strong beliefs, science and well-being, in a desire to pass on to mothers and mothers-to-be all the benefits of skin science.

For her, in our increasingly stressful society, it is important to bring meaning back to the senses and restore overall wellbeing.

Sandrine Dahan is a member of the Cosmetic Valley, the French Society of Cosmetology and FEBEA.

TESTIMONIALS

"Thanks to @skinhaptics_paris for these products that are just magical."

*Emmanuelle B.
(July 2021)*

"Your products are great. They were recommended to me as part of my follow-up (breast cancer) and to get through the difficult phase of chemotherapy. I promote it a lot because my skin has been well hydrated without aggression. I spoke about it to patients as well as to the Capeline Institute in Saint-Cloud which follows me as part of my hair prosthesis and for hair regrowth. I had no itching on my head thanks to your shower gel."

Dorothee D., August 2021

"Thank you Sandrine and Dorothee for this prenatal massage training. It was a revelation for me and I can't wait to practice."

*Cynthia V.
